Joseph Morpurgo

Writer

Represented by:
Humphrey Elles-Hill

Joseph Morpurgo is a writer and comedian. He was Lead Writer on the preschool series Ready Eddie Go, and has written on multiple Aardman projects, including the International Emmy Kids winner Shaun The Sheep: Adventures From Mossy Bottom. He co-created Radio 4 series The Ultimate Choice; wrote and starred in his own show, Joseph Morpurgo's Walking Tour; and has developed work with Warp Films, Baby Cow, Blink, Fudge Park, and more. His live shows have won extensive acclaim - especially 2015's Soothing Sounds For Baby, which was nominated for Best Show at the Edinburgh Comedy Awards and won three Chortle Awards. He is also a founder member of improv show Austentatious - one of the UK's biggest and best known improv shows, currently resident in London's West End. His broadcast credits include Harry and Paul's Story of the 2s (BBC2), Murder in Successville (BBC3), and Drunk History (Comedy Central). He also works extensively in the gaming sector, writing shorts and in-game narrative work for the likes of Ubisoft, Square Enix, Creative Assembly, Digital Extremes, and more.
