

J.P. Robson

Represented by:

Jago Irwin

J.P. Robson is a writer from the North-East of England. His debut play 'I Woke Up Feeling Electric' was staged in London in 2020 and his TV pilot 'The Corpse that Went to War' won the Sir Peter Ustinov Television Scriptwriting Award at the International Emmys in 2021. AWARDS Winner, Sir Peter Ustinov Television Scriptwriting Award, International Emmys, 2021 Quarter-finalist, Raindance Festival, 2022 Shortlist, Alpine Theatre Fellowship Prize, 2022 Shortlist, Through the Mill Playwriting Award, 2021 Finalist, Phil Fox Award, 2020

THEATRE

| DATE | PRODUCTION (ROLE) | COMPANY |
|------|-------------------------------------|--------------|
| 2020 | I Woke Up Feeling Electric (Writer) | Hope Theatre |