

Rob Burke

Director

Originally from Dublin, Rob Burke and Ronan Burke grew up in the United States, Australia and Sweden. While they have collaborated on many crazy ideas since childhood, their short film JELLYBABY was their first as co-directors and proved to be a great success. Screening at over 60 film festivals worldwide the film picked up numerous awards. They also received the IFTA for best short film for RUNNERS starring Aidan Gillen in 2010. More recently Ronan and Rob directed episodes of the Emmy Award winning first season of the NETFLIX series FREE REIN and many cornerstone episodes of the gritty police drama RED ROCK for Element Pictures. They also worked on season 2 and 3 of the global hit series FIND ME IN PARIS which was produced by Cottonwood Media for ZDF / Disney France and HULU. Most recently they directed the first season of HARRY WILD a murder mystery series starring Jane Seymour for Acorn/AMC. In 2014 they made their feature film debut with STANDBY a romantic comedy starring Brian Gleeson and Jessica Paré. They released a second feature in 2018, DAMO AND IVOR: THE MOVIE.
